Route 906

1. Belconnen Interchange

The ACTION Suburban bus service reflects Canberra's land use distribution and road system. Canberra consists of four towns, each with a town centre and bus interchange (or one planned). ACTION's feeder bus routes run into the interchanges and the inter-town express route 333 links the town centre interchanges.

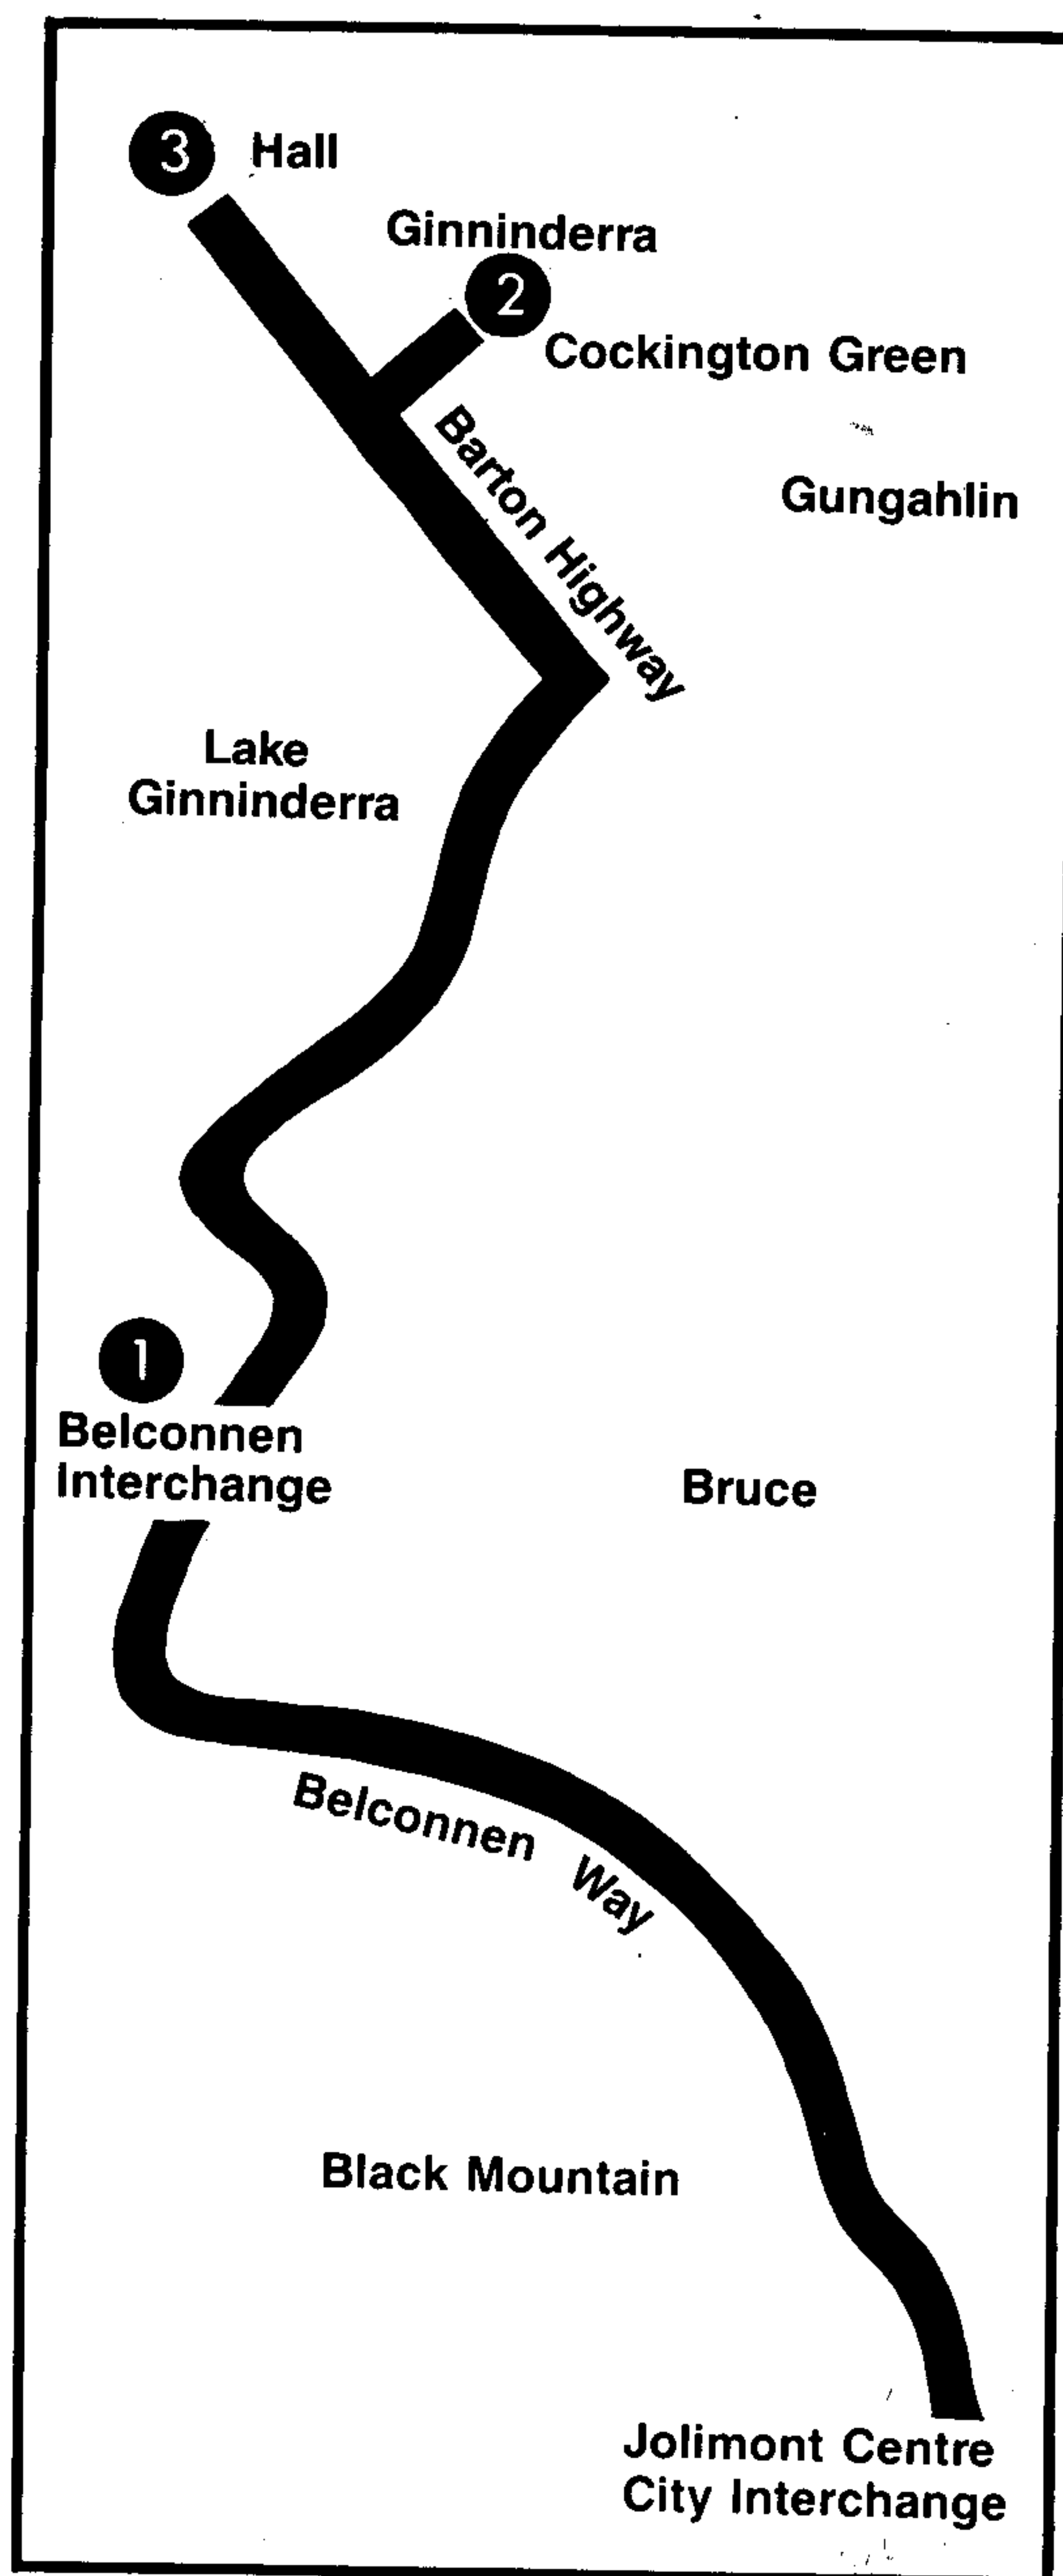

Belconnen's award winning interchange is connected to all shops and offices in the town centre by a network of walkways; pedestrians do not have to cross any roadway at ground level.

If, on your return from Ginninderra and Hall you wish to visit Belconnen Mall, one of the largest fully enclosed shopping centres in Australia, just get off 'Two Villages' bus at Belconnen and, later on in the day, catch any 333 intertown bus from platform 13, back to the City. Intertown buses leave Belconnen for City every 15 minutes throughout the day.

2. Ginninderra and Hall, both situated on the & old Queanbeyan to Yass Road, pre-date

3. Canberra. Ginninderra's first settlers arrived in the 1820s and the village developed to be one of the main settlements on the Yass Road, eventually comprising a post office (opened 1859), a general store, blacksmith, church, school and cricket ground. The school opened in 1884 and closed in 1911 when the new school in Hall was built. By this time Hall had surpassed Ginninderra in importance.

Today the Ginninderra School House and Church have both become part of the new 'Village' combining Australian and English historical interests. The original colonial buildings, which are now part of an arts and crafts centre, have been joined by 'Cockington Green', a superb miniature village based on buildings in Great Britain, set in a garden landscape. Included within Cockington Green is The Parsons Nose Licensed Restaurant and a Steam Train ride around the property. Nearby is the George Harcourt Inn, a new 'Tudor Style' English pub.
